1 Prepare your iPhone 3G

Remove Body and Screen Films (if necessary)

Start by removing any existing body and/or screen films that you have previously installed on your iPhone's surface.

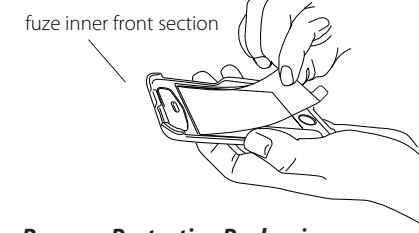

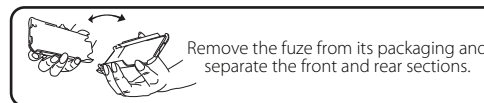

Note: failure to remove all pre-existing body/screen protection films may result in diminished fuze fit and/or function.

Clean your iPhone

Using the included cleaning wipe, gently and thoroughly remove dirt, dust, and other impurities from your iPhone's surface.

Tip: Use the cleaning wipe to remove any oils from your iPhone's screen, and you'll avoid the "wet look effect" that can arise after applying the fuze's screen guard.

2 Getting Started

Remove Protective Packaging

Remove all protective packaging film from both the front and rear of the fuze. Then gently remove the film from inside the fuze's screen guard. Important: be careful not to touch the inside of the screen guard.

Note: It is necessary to remove the fuze's integrated screen guard when using other screen films, such as the iSkin Privacy Film for iPhone (sold separately). To remove the fuze's integrated screen guard, simply separate it from the fuze's front section. Store the separated screen guard in a safe location for future reapplication.
